Look a little closer

Vondelpark gives Amsterdam a broad landscape for walking, cycling and everyday recreation. Curving paths connect lawns, water and planted edges rather than one straight sightseeing route. Choose a small loop and notice how people share the space. Keep to appropriate paths and remain aware of bicycles; cafés and performances follow separate arrangements.

Something to notice

Watch how a path bends around water or planting. Sketch the curve rather than a landmark.

A little consideration

Stay on permitted public paths, leave entrances clear and respect residents, workers and other visitors.
