Look a little closer

Casa Milà, known as La Pedrera, gives a corner of the Eixample an unusually fluid edge. Gaudí's stone façade, iron balconies and rooftop structures are parts of a larger architectural system. The building also has residential uses. Follow the visitor circuit and notice how the courtyards bring light and air into the depth of the block.

Something to notice

Compare the rhythm of a balcony with a rooftop silhouette.

A little consideration

Follow visitor and photography rules, leave objects and historic surfaces untouched, and give other people room.
