Look a little closer

The Tiergarten offers a broad landscape of trees, lawns and water within central Berlin. Roads and monuments cross or frame it, but smaller paths reveal a slower pace. Choose a manageable section rather than treating the whole park as one walk. Use marked crossings at roads and respect wildlife, planted areas and other people sharing the space.

Something to notice

Listen at a path junction. How quickly does the sound of traffic change as you move?

A little consideration

Stay on permitted public paths, leave entrances clear and respect residents, workers and other visitors.
