Look a little closer

Rosenborg's brick towers stand within the King's Garden, but the castle interior is a separate ticketed visit. Rooms and collections reveal how royal life was furnished and displayed. Look at objects as evidence of ceremony and daily use rather than only wealth. Read the current reservation, bag and security rules before choosing your visit.

Something to notice

Choose one object made for display and another made for use. What overlaps between them?

Follow visitor and photography rules, leave objects and historic surfaces untouched, and give other people room.
