Look a little closer

Estrela Garden offers a leafy change of pace beside Lisbon's basilica. Winding paths, planted areas and places to sit make the garden useful for a short, unhurried visit. Watch how local routines share the space with visitors. The garden and the basilica are different places, and cafés or other activities have their own opening arrangements.

Something to notice

Choose a shaded seat and notice three different leaf shapes without picking anything.

A little consideration

Stay on permitted public paths, leave entrances clear and respect residents, workers and other visitors.
