Look a little closer

MAAT brings art, architecture and technology to the Tagus waterfront. Its low curved building and the historic power station offer different architectural experiences. Exhibitions change, so check the current program and ticket coverage. The public riverside setting can be enjoyed separately; roof and building access depend on current visitor arrangements.

Something to notice

Compare a curve in the contemporary building with a line in the old power station.

A little consideration

Follow visitor and photography rules, leave objects and historic surfaces untouched, and give other people room.
