Look a little closer

The Templo Mayor site and museum make visible part of Tenochtitlan's ceremonial precinct beside the colonial cathedral. Excavated structures reveal successive building phases, while museum displays give objects and offerings a broader cultural context.

Something to notice

Find a place where successive construction phases are visible, then connect that observation to the museum's explanation.

A little consideration

Follow visitor and photography rules, leave objects and historic surfaces untouched, and give other people room.

YOUR DAY
