Facts checked 2026-10-12

Look a little closer

Central Park offers a different rhythm within Manhattan. Paths lead between lawns, wooded areas, water and carefully shaped landscapes. Choose a small area rather than trying to see everything. Bethesda Terrace is a good place to notice how architecture and planting make room for everyday life.

Something to notice

Compare the texture of a stone balustrade, a tree trunk and the water. Find a small place to pause.

A little consideration

Stay on permitted paths, leave plants and wildlife undisturbed and take litter with you. Keep shared paths clear.

YOUR DAY
