Look a little closer

Greenwich Village offers an intimate contrast to Midtown. Streets, cafés and cultural venues surround Washington Square, where the arch and park bring neighborhood life together. Explore slowly, with attention to the relationship between public gathering places and the homes and workplaces around them.

Something to notice

Notice a doorway, a window and the shape of the street. What makes this part of the city feel different?

A little consideration

Keep paths and doorways clear. Respect residents, use marked crossings and ask before photographing people closely.
