Look a little closer

The Space Needle gives Seattle a distinctive profile above Seattle Center. Its observation levels bring the city, Elliott Bay and the surrounding landscape into one view. Weather shapes what you can see, so allow the horizon to be part of the experience rather than a promise.

Something to notice

Find the bay, a city street and a distant ridge if visible. Notice how water shapes the city.

A little consideration

Keep shared paths clear, follow barriers and staff directions, and pause only where it is safe to do so.
