Look a little closer

The MuseumsQuartier brings contemporary cultural institutions into a former imperial stable complex. Courtyards and passages make the relationship between historic buildings and modern additions easy to see. A public walk through the complex is different from entering its museums or attending a performance. Check each institution's program and tickets before choosing an interior visit.

Something to notice

Compare a historic wall with a modern building edge. Where do they meet comfortably or unexpectedly?

A little consideration

Stay on permitted public paths, leave entrances clear and respect residents, workers and other visitors.
