Look a little closer

The Morrin Centre brings several chapters of Québec's history into one building, including imprisonment, education and the life of an English-language cultural institution. An authorized visit can reveal contrasts between spaces designed for control and spaces associated with reading or exchange.

Something to notice

Compare the purpose of two spaces described on the visit. How does architecture influence the way people behave?

A little consideration

Follow visitor and photography rules, leave objects and historic surfaces untouched, and give other people room.
